Protect your employees' mobile devices

No additional charge!

Your employees use corporate devices?

Mobile gadgets are miniature computers, and they and their owners are exposed to the same threats as a PC: hacking, malicious sites, dangerous spam, etc. That means they need reliable anti-virus protection.

Threats from employee mobile devices will not penetrate a corporate network!

Thanks to the active protection components, trojans and other malicious objects will not be able to spread over the network and infect other devices.
